No. 22, the Charleston, to Newport News.

Protected cruiser No. 22, the St. Louis, was to have gone to the Bath Iron Works, but that corporation having declined the contract, the Navy Department today issued a circular calling for new proposals for constructing this cruiser.

The bids are to be opened at noon April 1st, and the department will supply information as to changes that may be made in the original specifications. It is expected that the two protected cruisers left to Newport News and Seattle & Levy.

REPUBLICAN CONFERENCE.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—A conference of Republican Senators has been called for tomorrow to decide what course to pursue in reference to committee assignments.

PAUSEFOTE TO REMAIN.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The unofficial reports current some time ago that Lord Pauncefoot, the British Ambassador, will have his extension of service in Washington continued, have now been fully confirmed, and it appears that the extension will last throughout the present year and is likely to be followed by another extension owing to the Ambassador's vigorous health and thorough acquaintance with all the important international questions in which the two governments are interested.

FIFTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

FIRST SESSION.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—SENATE. When the Senate convened today, the galleries were crowded as upon preceding days of the present session, but it was evident that Vice-President Roosevelt's warning that he would direct the galleries to be cleared in the event of another demonstration of applause, had had its effect, as not a ripple disturbed the quiet when the Vice-President entered the chamber. During the opening proceedings, a large ornamental basket filled with roses was brought in and placed upon the desk of Mr. Blackburn of Kentucky.

The Vice-President announced the appointment of Messrs. Callahan of Illinois and Cockrell of Missouri as members of the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institution.

At the conclusion of the routine business, Mr. Morgan resumed his speech, begun yesterday, in support of his resolution making a declaration of the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. He read that part of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty which relates to the Nicaragua Canal, and all the provisions of an agreement for the construction of the canal made between the United States and Great Britain, and declared that the United States had no right to be bound by a treaty which placed the Nicaragua Canal in the hands of a foreign power. He declared that the United States had no right to be bound by a treaty which placed the Nicaragua Canal in the hands of a foreign power. He declared that the United States had no right to be bound by a treaty which placed the Nicaragua Canal in the hands of a foreign power.

At the conclusion of Mr. Morgan's speech, the Senate, without taking any action upon the resolutions, upon motion of Mr. Lodge of Massachusetts, adjourned at 12 o'clock, went into executive session.

At the conclusion of the executive session, the Senate adjourned until tomorrow.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The Senate in executive session today ratified an agreement with various European powers for the amendment of the treaty made at Brussels some years ago, which provided for the registration of patents, trade marks, etc. The modifications made by the treaty, which was today acted upon, are not of general interest. One of them changes the place of meeting in the original treaty. Rome was named as the place; the amendment leaves the place to be named from time to time.

The reciprocity treaties were not discussed, and it was not expected that the Committee on Foreign Relations had acted upon any of the various European treaties during the present session, and Senators generally hold that it is necessary that there be some compromise between the Senate and the House.

THE FINAL ADJOURNMENT.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—A number of Senators who have talked with the President express the opinion that the present session of the Senate can be adjourned to a final conclusion by next Saturday, and some think that an adjournment may be reached tomorrow.

INTEREST IN RECIPROCITY.

SOME TREATIES NOT DEAD.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Foreign representatives interested in reciprocity treaties pending in the Senate are in communication with their governments as to the course to be pursued since the Senate has failed to act upon them. With many of the treaties, it prevails that they expired at the end of the regular session. This is so with various treaties with Great Britain, including the British West Indian possessions, Barbadoes, Bermuda and Guiana, and its colonial authorities in each case have been made aware of the fact that no action was expected. In case there is a renewal of negotiations regarding the West Indian colonies, they are not likely to be taken up before the next autumn. In the case of the Barbadoes, the British Ambassador, Mr. Campbell, and the American Reciprocity Commissioner, Mr. Kasson, view the situation with some interest, and have previously concluded a written agreement extending the time within which ratification could be made until the 15th of the present month. It is usual for the executive branch to make such extension, and in this case the extension of the Franco-American treaty is expected to be operative without reference to what the Senate may do at the special session. In extending the time for ratification, it is expected that further action will be taken, either in the executive branch or in the Senate, which will permit the treaty to be considered at the next regular session of the Senate.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY.

GOOD NEWS FOR NAVY.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Since last autumn the Navy Department has suspended the experiments in the employment of wireless telegraphy as a means of communication between naval vessels and between vessels and the shore. Up to this time none of the warships has been equipped with a permanent plant.

Secretary Wilson, hearing that the navy was casting about for a serviceable system of telegraphy, has written to Admiral Bradford, chief of the Equipment Bureau, to notify him that the Agricultural Department has been experimenting for some time with wireless telegraphy, and that the results have been very satisfactory. His experts assert with great positiveness that they have evolved a system of telegraphy far more efficient than the one now in use. It is probable that a practical exhibition will be made on board of a naval vessel.

EXPORTS TO RUSSIA.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—A statement prepared at the Bureau of Statistics shows that during the last year the export value of American goods to Russia was $1,000,000, and that the Russian government in retaliation for the countervailing duties imposed by this government on Russian sugar, was $1,000,000, while that affected amount was $2,572,429.

MAKING THE PALACES SOMETHING LIKE HOME.

KING AND QUEEN OF BRITAIN ARE REFURNISHING.

Many Changes Desired at Windsor and Buckingham is to be Transformed Internally—Electric Lights to Supplement the Old-time Candles.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

LONDON, March 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Whenever there is a change of reign in Russia, all the churches in Moscow are painted and refitted. A new reign in England is the signal for the refitting of the royal palaces. The king and queen are to be refitted. The king and queen are to be refitted. The king and queen are to be refitted.

Many of these rooms are lighted by candles, but a circuit of electric lights will be extended from the ballroom, drawing-room and throneroom to every section of the palace. The king and queen will need little attention, as the turf is perfect, the lake picturesquely bordered with lawns, and every tree in the forty acres shapely and well-ordered.

MANCHESTER WAS OUT.

Duchess Refuses to See Many Callers, and the Duke Does Not Want to be Interviewed.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

LONDON, March 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Duke and Duchess of Manchester, on reaching London, drove immediately to the Carlton Hotel. Through the day a succession of cards were taken up to room 235. The uniform reply to all inquiries was that His Grace was out, and the Duchess declined to receive callers. The Duke's absence was not mere seeking legal advice, in whose hands were placed the papers of the late Duke of Manchester, the papers of which were served amid such dramatic surroundings on landing.

The Duke's American honeymoon and sea voyage have bronzed his cheeks. As a benedict His Grace appears to have grown more manly than when as a boy, half-Journalist and wholly aristocrat, he was a fleet figure to the habitude of Fleet street in "see saw" hours. His first response to his salutation. "The reason, of course, is readily apparent."

MISS KNIGHT'S STAGE CAREER.

OAKLAND, March 7.—Miss Portia Knight, who has used the Duke of Manchester for alleged breach of promise, received her education in this city. Almost from childhood she had a desire to become an actress, and she entered a seminary in the expectation of fitting herself for the stage. Though educated in this city, her home was at Klamath Falls, Or., where her father is a prominent attorney. She was taken into Frederick Ward's company and given the position of leading lady. She first met Ward in New York, and remained with him for some time, but was taken ill in New York and spent nearly four years in attempting to regain her health. A year ago Miss Knight went to Portland. After a short stay in Portland she went to the West Indian colonies. Of her life across the ocean her friends here know little or nothing.

HONOLULU, March 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The first Territorial Legislature, which convened in Honolulu on the 20th of last month, and has been in session ever since. With both houses in control of the Territory all persons who may arrive here afflicted with consumption or leprosy.

On the third day of the session, Secretary of the Territory Cooper was ceremoniously ordered out of the House and escorted out by the sergeant-at-arms. Acting under the section of the Territorial act which provides that he shall "record and preserve the laws and proceedings of the Legislature," Secretary Cooper took up a place on the floor of the House and proceeded to secure a record of the proceedings. Representative Beckley (Ind.) of Molokai offered a resolution questioning the right of the House to set forth that his presence on the floor was a violation of the rule that no person shall be admitted to the House, executive and legislative members must be kept separate, and it was argued that the House had no right to admit a person who was a member of the House of Representatives.

The question of language is another source of trouble. The organic act provides that the language of the Legislature shall be conducted in the English language. Half of the members are natives, and the other half are foreigners. The House has been divided into two camps, one for the English language and the other for the Hawaiian language. (BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.]

ROME, March 7.—[By Atlantic Cable.] In the Chamber of Deputies today, the new Premier, Signor Zanardelli, made the following statement: "I am in a difficult situation, but I have accepted the task of forming a Cabinet, and I will devote my efforts to a liberal and honest administration under the new ministry."

The new crew was half Filipino, and all except two were green hands. In another episode, while the bark, she had a narrower escape than before, as only the vigilance of the officers prevented her from going to the bottom. She put into Honolulu, and the crew were discharged. It is estimated that it will cost $20,000 to replace her.

RAN THROUGH THREE GALES.

THE EULOMENE'S EXPERIENCE. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) VICTORIA, March 7.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) With her fore and main lower topsails carried away and with other canvas ribbed and spars gone, the ship Eulomene was towed into Royal Roads tonight. She had been caught in a violent hurricane while on the Japanese port January 20, and thirty-two days later she encountered a hurricane from the eastward, wind blowing with awful violence. She first lost her main and fore lower topsails, and then her inner jib was carried away. The yard braves were carried away and the ballast shifted, causing the ship to keel over most unpleasantly in the high seas in which she rolled considerably.

Justice Courts Made Legal—Old Salary List Stands.

LEGISLATURE TO QUIT
WORK NEXT WEEK.SIXTIETH DAY ENDS PERIOD OF PAID SERVICE.

Both Houses Expected to Adjourn Not Later Than Saturday Noon—Bill Legalizing Police Courts Becomes a Law—Appropriations for Highway.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SACRAMENTO, March 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the end of today's session of both houses the pay of the members stopped and they can draw no more unless there is an extra session, which is hardly possible. This was the sixtieth day of the period during which the members could draw $3 per day each. From now on they must work for nothing, and they will not work long. The resolutions for final adjournment are in the hands of the respective finance committees. Senator Smith of Kern, chairman of that committee in the upper house, said today that it is probable that both houses will adjourn next week, probably Friday, or by Saturday noon at the latest. The Southern California members desire to get home by Sunday and therefore prefer to quit work Friday.

POLICE COURTS LEGAL.
Friedman's bill providing for justice courts has become a law by limitation, having been in the hands of the Governor ten days without his taking action. The bill provides that there shall be at least one justice court in each township and a greater number if the Board of Supervisors deem them necessary. There shall be at least two such courts in cities of the third and fourth classes and in cities of the first and one-half class (Los Angeles). There must be two such courts. The bill providing for the creation of a board of finance relief and pension fund commissioners has also become a law. Its provisions are much the same as the law creating a police pension fund with an exception that the fund is raised by taxation.

HOSPITAL BILLS PASS.
Assemblyman Bennick's four bills for the benefit of the Southern California State Hospital were passed by the Assembly today. One carries an appropriation of $5000 for the construction of storm water drains; another $40,000 for the completion of a wing to the main building; another $20,000 for the erection of a cottage or isolated ward for tuberculosis patients; and the fourth $500 for a new boiler and heating apparatus.

THE WHITE MEMORIAL.
Speaker Penland today introduced in the Assembly a concurrent resolution similar to that of Senator Fred Smith providing for an appropriation of $1000 from the contingent fund of each House for the proposed monument to the late Hon. Stephen M. White. It was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

AGRICULTURAL INCREASE.
The Finance Committee of the Senate, after adjournment of the upper house tonight, decided to recommend a 25 per cent. increase in all appropriations to agricultural districts. This new Los Angeles district $1000. Ventura was granted an additional allowance of $50 over the increase.

SENATE IN A RUT.
SLOT-MACHINE BILL DELAYED.
SACRAMENTO, March 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Owing to objections raised by the Governor to the bill passed two days ago for the benefit of the proposed Salt Lake Railroad, it became necessary to introduce today an entirely new bill, covering the same subject, and this new bill will be sent through both houses with a rush. Fred K. Rule, who is here in the interest of the new railroad, saw the Executive features. There was nothing to do but to draft a new bill, which would meet the Governor's approval, and that was done at once. The new bill was submitted to the members of the Code Commission and to those of the State Commission in Lunacy, and was approved by both bodies. It also has the approval of the Executive.

THE SENATE THIS MORNING introduced a concurrent resolution, which was adopted, allowing Gov. Gage three months' leave of absence from the State, during one year of the remainder of his official term.

Members of Los Angeles Delegation "Fall Down" Despite Agreement of Caucus and Former Declaration. Patronage Party Responsible.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SACRAMENTO, March 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In spite of the repeated declarations of the members of the Los Angeles delegation that they would stand by the declaration of the Republican convention, and pass a law this session, reducing and equalizing the salaries of the county officers, and in spite of the fact that this reduction has been agreed to in caucus, there has been such a change of sentiment that no reduction in the Los Angeles salary schedule will be made. The matter came up in the Senate today, when the new County Government Act was being considered.

Currier made a half-hearted effort to have the reduced schedule, agreed to in caucus, incorporated in the bill, but Smith and Simpson kicked. The latter was especially emphatic. Five days ago he was championing the cause of reduction, and Currier says, came to him and declared himself desirous of introducing what Currier presented today. Several things have happened since that time. Currier, who was in Pasadena "statesman" view, and in this matter Smith sided with him and his efforts were successful.

There was nothing to do but to draft a new bill, which would meet the Governor's approval, and that was done at once. The new bill was submitted to the members of the Code Commission and to those of the State Commission in Lunacy, and was approved by both bodies. It also has the approval of the Executive.

Members of Los Angeles Delegation "Fall Down" Despite Agreement of Caucus and Former Declaration. Patronage Party Responsible.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SACRAMENTO, March 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In spite of the repeated declarations of the members of the Los Angeles delegation that they would stand by the declaration of the Republican convention, and pass a law this session, reducing and equalizing the salaries of the county officers, and in spite of the fact that this reduction has been agreed to in caucus, there has been such a change of sentiment that no reduction in the Los Angeles salary schedule will be made. The matter came up in the Senate today, when the new County Government Act was being considered.

Currier made a half-hearted effort to have the reduced schedule, agreed to in caucus, incorporated in the bill, but Smith and Simpson kicked. The latter was especially emphatic. Five days ago he was championing the cause of reduction, and Currier says, came to him and declared himself desirous of introducing what Currier presented today. Several things have happened since that time. Currier, who was in Pasadena "statesman" view, and in this matter Smith sided with him and his efforts were successful.

THREATENED KEARNS.
Schuyler, Neb. Merchant Charged with Attempting to Extort Money from the Utah Senator.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
SALT LAKE CITY, March 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A merchant of Schuyler, Neb., a merchant of Schuyler, Neb., is in jail here on a charge of attempting to extort money from Thomas Kearns, a Utah Senator. The arrest was made by Post Inspector Sullivan of Denver. Wolter was for a number of years a resident of Salt Lake City. Kearns is charged he sought to extort $5000 from the Senator and $2500 from Mrs. Kearns. The letter to Mrs. Kearns made a demand for three against the children. The Senator put the letter in the hands of Inspector Sullivan, who produced the letter to Schuyler. He suspected Wolter through his manhood. Wolter protests innocence.

Code Commission and Executive Approval of New Measure, Which Will Be Rushed Through—Passes Senate and Goes to House Today.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SACRAMENTO, March 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Owing to objections raised by the Governor to the bill passed two days ago for the benefit of the proposed Salt Lake Railroad, it became necessary to introduce today an entirely new bill, covering the same subject, and this new bill will be sent through both houses with a rush. Fred K. Rule, who is here in the interest of the new railroad, saw the Executive features. There was nothing to do but to draft a new bill, which would meet the Governor's approval, and that was done at once. Both Houses Expected to Adjourn Not Later Than Saturday Noon—Bill Legalizing Police Courts Becomes a Law—Appropriations for Highway.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SACRAMENTO, March 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the end of today's session of both houses the pay of the members stopped and they can draw no more unless there is an extra session, which is hardly possible. This was the sixtieth day of the period during which the members could draw $3 per day each. From now on they must work for nothing, and they will not work long. The resolutions for final adjournment are in the hands of the respective finance committees. Senator Smith of Kern, chairman of that committee in the upper house, said today that it is probable that both houses will adjourn next week, probably Friday, or by Saturday noon at the latest. The Southern California members desire to get home by Sunday and therefore prefer to quit work Friday.

POLICE COURTS LEGAL.
Friedman's bill providing for justice courts has become a law by limitation, having been in the hands of the Governor ten days without his taking action. The bill provides that there shall be at least one justice court in each township and a greater number if the Board of Supervisors deem them necessary. There shall be at least two such courts in cities of the third and fourth classes and in cities of the first and one-half class (Los Angeles). There must be two such courts. The bill providing for the creation of a board of finance relief and pension fund commissioners has also become a law. Its provisions are much the same as the law creating a police pension fund with an exception that the fund is raised by taxation.

HOSPITAL BILLS PASS.
Assemblyman Bennick's four bills for the benefit of the Southern California State Hospital were passed by the Assembly today. One carries an appropriation of $5000 for the construction of storm water drains; another $40,000 for the completion of a wing to the main building; another $20,000 for the erection of a cottage or isolated ward for tuberculosis patients; and the fourth $500 for a new boiler and heating apparatus.

THE WHITE MEMORIAL.
Speaker Penland today introduced in the Assembly a concurrent resolution similar to that of Senator Fred Smith providing for an appropriation of $1000 from the contingent fund of each House for the proposed monument to the late Hon. Stephen M. White. It was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

LONG-PRICED HORSES AGAIN IN EVIDENCE. DANGEROUS MAID GETS HER HEAD PAST HANDICAPPER. FORMER AND DR. CAVE GAIN VICTORIES IN THEIR RESPECTIVE RACES—Strong Wind Down the Stretch—Results at Oakland and New Orleans.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M. SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—Long-priced horses were again in evidence at the San Francisco track today. Dangerous Maid, a 15-to-1 shot, beat Handicapper a head. Former, quoted at 12 to 1, annexed the handicap, and in the closing event, Dr. Cave, a 7-to-1 chance, gained a head victory over Catastrophe, the odds-on favorite. Former was allowed to set his own pace in the handicap and the field could not catch him at the finish. A strong wind blew down the stretch and no fast time was made. The weather was fine and the track fast. Results:

Lawson's friends said that the New York Yacht Club, which was presently being accepted for the trial race, was entered by a member of the New York Yacht Club.

POLE-VAULTER BREAKS NECK. Harry M. Schuster in a Serious Condition at Berkeley.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES. SAN FRANCISCO, March 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While practicing pole-vaulting at Berkeley, this afternoon, Harry M. Schuster, a student of the University of California, was thrown to the ground by the breaking of his pole and received injuries which caused his death. It is believed that young Schuster's neck was broken by the pole and that even if his life is saved, he is likely to be permanently crippled. He was released at once to the hospital at Oakland, and President Wheeler summoned specialists from San Francisco to attend him.

Schuster fell flat on his back from a height of ten feet. His neck struck squarely across the four-inch scantling which connects the bases of the two uprights. His head went back with an audible snap, and in an instant paralysis seized his body. Schuster's parents live in Santa Barbara. They were notified this afternoon by wire, and are expected to come to Berkeley.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC BOARD TO HAVE NEW BOARD. UNION PACIFIC PEOPLE MAY BECOME DIRECTORS.

President Hays Has Been Asked to Remain as the Executive Head of the System—Significance of the Pacific Mail Changes.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M. NEW YORK, March 7.—The Commercial Advertiser today has the following: "There is good reason to expect some important changes in the board of directors of the Southern Pacific Railroad within the next few days. When the board meets to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Director John D. Probst it is likely that other vacancies will be created by resignations in order to make places for Union Pacific representatives. It is expected that E. H. Harriman, who is chairman of the Union Pacific board, will have influential voice in reorganizing the Southern Pacific board."

"President Charles M. Hays has been asked by the new owners of the Southern Pacific to remain as the executive head of the system, and there is no expectation of any material change in the executive staff of the road. Considerable guessing has been done regarding the probable resignation of H. E. Huntington as vice-president, but nothing definite has been known on that point. There is special significance in the change in the control of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company. Soon after Collins Huntington, C. G. Gould, and his friends undertook to make E. H. Harriman president of the Pacific Mail Company. In the event, the directors of the Southern Pacific system, including the Southern Pacific directors to buy the control of the steamship company outright. Now that both companies are controlled by the same man, the question arises whether Mr. Gould's plan of making Mr. Harriman president will be carried out."

EMPIRE AND REPUBLIC DON'T HITCH UP WELL. GREAT BRITAIN NOT DISPOSED TO AID THIS COUNTRY.

Kaiser Wilhelm Has Impressed the Englishmen with the Idea That He Can Do More Than Uncle Sam for the Good of the Crown.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M. NEW YORK, March 7.—American rumors that the British Foreign Office has suggested a basis for drafting a new isthmian canal treaty cannot be confirmed in London, says a Tribune dispatch from that city. The English press has not shown any interest in the canal question, and consequently Lord Lansdowne has considered it safe to pass it over as a matter of no importance, and thereby remind the American government that it ought to find out what it wants before asking any concession in a spirit of neighborly accommodation. Lord Lansdowne is not in an amiable state of mind, as has been shown by his attack upon Lord Wolseley, but he is capable of gauging English sentiment correctly on foreign questions.

There was real enthusiasm in England in favor of the American canal project, but it has cooled off. This partly is because the American opinion during the last year has been mainly because the imperial movement has received a great impulse from the loyalty displayed by the colonies and because also the German Emperor has proved a trustworthy and useful ally in heading off European intervention. The plain truth is that German support is considered more helpful than American good feeling, hence there is no disposition to make unnecessary concessions to the United States, either on the canal question or the Maybray case, which has again been brought up by the prisoner's friends.

GETTING BACK AT MORGAN. BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M. LONDON, March 7.—The afternoon papers here today make little comment on the statements of Senator Morgan of Alabama, yesterday in the United States Senate, in his plea for the Nicaragua Canal, following his resolution declaring the Clayton-Bulwer treaty abrogated. The Fall Mail Gazette says: "Mr. Morgan cannot help making his friends and relatives exultantly uncomfortable. Every time he opens his mouth he must give any show away with which he has the presumption to meddle."

Because of the serious differences that have developed among the political parties of Chile, and strong dissatisfaction with the present Conservative Cabinet, an extraordinary session of the National Congress has been called. The object of this movement is to provoke a Cabinet crisis, which will lead to the formation of a new ministry, representing only the Liberal elements, which now form the controlling majority in Congress.

A BUNSENBYN OPINION.

Le Gaulois, one of the leading newspapers of Paris, commenting on the President's inaugural address, astutely observes that "daily it becomes more plain that President McKinley intends at the present time to repudiate the policy of expansion and imperialism and to return to the moderate policy which accords better with his temperament and ideas."

The President's address has evoked all sorts of comment from our more or less extreme cotemporaries on the other side of the water; but that above quoted is entitled to the first prize for silliness. It shows a misunderstanding of the President, his purposes and his policies, so profound as to be utterly hopeless. The explicit remarks of Le Gaulois, however, are about as true and about as sensible as those of nine-tenths of the would-be critics of the President in this country. There is this difference, however, in favor of the French journal: Its foolish remarks undoubtedly arise from ignorance of the subject, while our home product of self-constituted critics are animated by pure enmities.

It is needless to say that the President repudiates no policy that he has heretofore adhered to; nor is there a sentence or a word in his inaugural address which would lend color to the supposition that he contemplates repudiation of any policy, principle or mode of procedure. As to the policy of trade and territorial expansion, he stands in the same position today that he has occupied from the first; a position which the American people have recently endorsed by the largest popular majority ever given to any candidate in the world's history. As regards the alleged policy of "imperialism," the President cannot contemplate repudiating it, for that very good reason that he has never for a moment entertained any such policy. A thing which has no existence can hardly be repudiated.

The would-be critics of the President will seek in vain to find just ground for criticism of his course in the matter of the Philippines, of Cuba, or of Porto Rico. Throughout the processes of the evolution and the solution of these difficult problems, the President's attitude and course of action have been manifestly inspired by the loftiest of patriotism, the highest of statesmanship, a keen sense of justice, and a desire to conserve and uphold the most perfect ideals of liberty under constitutional law. The mealy fault-finders who seek to impugn his motives and to belittle his achievements, only succeed in attracting public attention to their own littleness and meanness.

THE MYSTERIOUS EAST.

Notwithstanding the vast amount of money and the people that have been sent to China by the allied powers during the past year, and the thousands of columns of news and illustrations that have been forwarded by active and enterprising correspondents, the outside world today really knows little more about the interior of China than it did in the days of Marco Polo. To all intents and purposes, the interior of this great empire, which contains nearly one-third of the population of the globe, is still a terra incognita—the "mysterious East." What we have so far done in the way of exploration, apart from the enterprise of a few venturesome missionaries, is about the same as if a band of Europeans should land in New York and make an excursion to Buffalo.

An incident recently mentioned by the Santa Barbara correspondent of The Times throws a striking and interesting light on the lack of knowledge possessed by a great proportion of the Chinese themselves in regard to their own country, and to events which transpire, outside of their own immediate surroundings. A prominent Chinese merchant of the Channel city, who has been visiting in China for a year or more, returned to California, bringing with him a son, who was refused admittance, and detained by the authorities in San Francisco. The Chinese in vain endeavored to secure his release. He had, it appears, never heard anything about the Chinese exclusion act, and, more wonderful still, had never heard, until he was told of it in California, that a war had been in progress in China between his country and the allies.

What are we going to do with such a people as this, and with such a country?

From the way certain people persist in sneering at our government, and at the great minds that are at the head of it, one could easily believe the contrary would surely believe the critics to be citizens of a hostile foreign country, instead of loyal (Y) Americans.

OLIVE CULTURE.

A self-satisfied writer on agricultural topics, named Joel Shoemaker, who now, we believe, makes his home somewhere in the State of Washington, whence he inundates the press with typewritten matter of greater or less importance, has procured to be published in several exchanges—among others the Riverside Press and the Anaheim Gazette—an article on olive culture, in the course of which he says:

"In fifteen counties of Southern California there are successful olive groves consisting of more than twenty million trees. The growers report having immense sales for the fruit in all forms, and the oils are taken in many places in preference to the imports. The profits from an olive orchard are greater than from any other fruit, and the demand for olive products increases every year. There are many thousands of acres in this country that might be devoted to olive culture and the industry become as important as any of the special foreign fruits."

This is misleading in the highest degree, not to say absolutely false. So far from the profits of an olive orchard being greater than from any other fruit, the reverse is true, there being scarcely any other fruit raised in Southern California that has been so disappointing to the fruit growers during the past few years. So much is this the case that a number of growers have rooted up and abandoned their trees, while only a few months ago, at the request of the olive men, an expert was sent out by the University of California to discover why the industry was a failure. The growers complain that, firstly, the trees in many instances refuse to bear, and, secondly, when they did get a crop they are unable to market the product at a profit.

This season the outlook for the olive industry in Southern California is much more encouraging. The Times firmly believes, as it has always believed, that before long olive growing will take its place among the important and successful horticultural industries of the State. At present, however, it is in an embryo stage, and any person would be foolish to plant thousands of acres to olives until the facts in regard to the successful culture of the fruit are better understood.

Papers published in Southern California, where the olive has been so extensively planted during the past ten years, should know better than to print such misleading articles as the one above referred to.

RADICAL IMPERIALISM.

Americans are apt to take it for granted, as a matter of course, that the United States has made more progress in the line of social reforms and the amelioration of the condition of the masses of the people than any other country under the sun. A glance at what has been accomplished in another and younger country, on the other side of the globe, is calculated to upset this idea, and to give the proud and patriotic American something of a shock.

In a general way, educated Americans are aware that the Australian colonies have made wonderful strides along the path of civilization, that we are indebted to them for the Australian ballot, and for the Torrens system of land transfers, which has been adopted in several of the States and is being much talked of in others. Some interesting particulars in regard to the radical reforms in land legislation adopted in New Zealand have been given by Frank Carpenter in his letters published in the Sunday Times. Some of these ideas we should be inclined to regard as socialistic, but they seem to have worked well down there. The government was faced with the problem of breaking up the immense tracts of land which had been acquired by a few individuals, who developed them entirely to sheep raising, so that the growth of the population was slow. Thereupon a set of land laws was framed which quickly resulted in the subdivision of many of these large tracts. The government compelled the owners to sell land to itself, whenever they were called upon to do so, at a valuation of 10 per cent. above that placed upon the land by the owner for taxation. Then the taxes on land estates were increased in proportion to the extent of the property, with a further increase in case the owner lives outside the country in which his land is situated. At the same time, the taxation on small tracts was greatly reduced, and in cases of property valued at less than $2500 no taxes at all are paid. The value of the improvements is deducted from the assessed valuation of the land. This is one of Henry George's theories, which has been widely advocated by some people in this country. The land thus acquired by the government is subdivided and sold to actual settlers at cost, on long time, with interest at 5 per cent., or the land is leased at this low interest for 999 years, while advances are made to assist in building houses and fences. It is not only the settlers on land who are interested in this matter, but the government of New Zealand, by the government of New Zealand. There is a woman inspector of factories, connected with the government labor bureau, whose business it is to visit the shops, factories and work-rooms where women are employed, and see that the laws concerning them are carried out. Women and children are forbidden by law to put in more than fifty-two hours a week, and every week must be its half-holiday, exclusive of Sunday. The government also has laws against the "sweat shops," one of which provides that all factories shall have proper sanitary arrangements. Every saleswoman in a store must also be granted a weekly half-holiday, and the girls must have seats in the stores and be allowed to use them. It is scarcely necessary to add that in New Zealand women have the right to vote, although they cannot be elected to the Legislature.

This by no means entirely covers the reforms that have been introduced in New Zealand. Some interesting information on this subject is furnished by a book recently published entitled "New Zealand" by Henry Demarest Lloyd, who spent a large part of the year 1899 in the Australian colonies. Among other things, he shows that while we in the United States have been talking about good roads, New Zealand has solved the problem and has built good roads, good bridges and good public buildings by going directly to the people and not dealing with contractors. The middlemen's profits are also saved to the producer in selling the produce of the farm in London through governmental agency. He ships his goods to a governmental depot on the seacoast, where they are inspected, and, if found up to grade, he can have a part of his money advanced on them. The railroads belonging to the people, the products of the smallest farms are hauled to market at the same rate as the products of the largest factory. The State insures its laboring people and gives every man and woman over sixty-five years of age a pension of $5 a week, the only requirements being that they shall be needy and deserving.

Talk about "embarrassment of riches." We are having an example of that just now, here in Southern California, with orange growers in Los Angeles county howling for cars to carry away their crop, and oil producers in Kern county praying for cars in which to ship their oil. It appears as if nature had either been too rapid in these parts, or the railroad companies too slow.

We have all along boasted of the gentlemanly behavior of our street-car men. We can hardly imagine them committing the example of St. Louis, striking and wounding, and then merely using wind, instead of steel. However, they, too, are gone, and we have not left a trace of Holligan.

ists of the control of Canada's greatest industries. It is computed that the steel and coal interests in the hands of the American steel syndicate means, in effect, that the Canadian treasury will be called upon to pay direct tribute to the syndicate to the extent of $15,000,000 a year under the bounty law. The bounty expires in 1908, and if the trust can put out 10,000,000 tons of manufactured product in that period it will cost the Canadian taxpayers $10,000,000 in cash.

The situation is thus summed up: With the Morgan-Rockefeller trust controlling the iron and coal of the Atlantic seaboard, with Hill and Rockefeller controlling the coal of the Crow's Nest Pass, with the same combination directing the Midland, the "So," and the Nanaimo (B. C.) enterprises, the annexation of Canada's industries will be practically complete, and Canada henceforth a mere annex of the American syndicate.

WASHINGTON'S POLICE KEEPING OLD SCORES.

BRIG.-GEN. GOBIN DEFENDING PENNSYLVANIA MILITIA.

Says the Present Complaint Against the Guardsmen Grows Out of the Over-Officiousness of the Custodians of the Peace Sixteen Years Ago.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES. PITTSBURGH (Pa.) March 7.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The charges made against the guardsmen of Pennsylvania by the authorities at Washington and the announcement that the government will likely hold the State responsible for all damage done has created a furor throughout Pennsylvania. Brig.-Gen. F. S. Gobin of the Third Pennsylvania Brigade tonight came out with a bitter statement scoring the Washington police for hounding the Pennsylvania boys.

While Gen. Gobin does not say that the soldiers had cause for opposing the police on this occasion, he intimates plainly that the trouble is of long standing and that the soldiers are justified in their opposition.

The difficulty occurred through over-officiousness on the part of the police, who have been at odds with the troops since the first Cleveland inauguration sixteen years ago. Quite a number of the men made the mistake at the time of wearing too light shoes. As a result their feet got wet and sore during the march, and they were lame.

Company commanders ordered them to drop out of the ranks and return to their barracks. When the men sought to go back to the ranks, they were prevented by the police, although civilians were given this permission. There was a clash, and the soldiers were arrested.

Los Angeles people were notified and a peculiar order in the air a couple of days ago would doubtless be glad to have the militia sent to the city to clean up the trouble.

While Gen. Gobin does not specify it, the militia boys on this occasion caught the Chief of Police of Washington, disarmed him, and tossed him in a blanket.

The Platte Amendment Referred to a Special Committee, with Instructions to Bring in a Report—Crisis Supposed to Be Past.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M. HAVANA, March 7.—[By West Indian Cable.] The Cuban Constitution Committee met in secret session this afternoon for a formal discussion of the Platt amendment. The conservative element scored a victory. It was decided to continue the session of the convention, and to refer the amendment to the special committee on Relations, with instructions to bring in a report.

Gen. Sangrally favored dissolving the convention and returning the amendment without discussion. The other delegates were unanimously in favor of continuing the session and sending some answer to the Executive Department in Washington. It is generally believed that the crisis, if any existed, has passed, and by the time the committee reports, the present excitement will have died out.

Much depends upon the attitude of the radical delegates. If an impassioned appeal to the people is issued, as is rumored to be the case, this will cause demonstrations of protest against the United States, but nothing in the nature of an uprising is any longer feared.

IN HONOR OF WHITE.

Native Sons to Hold Special Memorial Services—Inviting Programme Has Been Arranged.

The late Stephen M. White was an honored member of Ramona Parlor, No. 109, Native Sons of the Golden West, and was the first president of the parlor. Accordingly the members of the parlor have thought it fitting to hold special memorial services in his honor. This evening has been set aside for that purpose. The place of meeting will be at Native Sons' Hall, No. 228 South Spring street. Invitations have been extended to all neighboring parlors and visiting Native Sons to be present.

The programme arranged is an interesting one. W. J. Hunsaker is to speak on Mr. White as a lawyer; Hon. R. F. Del Valle is to extol the dead Senator as a statesman; I. E. Dockweiler is to speak in his private life, and W. J. Varley is to discuss his civic virtues. Joseph B. Scott, who has gained some renown as a vocalist, will sing "O Meritum Passionis"; Richard Barry is billed to sing "The Palms," and Eugene Kelly "The Holy City." The memorial address will be made by E. A. Meserve. Lew E. Aubury will read the eulogy by R. J. Dillon and R. F. Del Valle.

An Anaheim man who is wintering at Dawson writes that the weather there is beautiful—52 deg. below zero! Now, wouldn't that freeze you?

Joe Gall of Stockton has gone to Bakersfield, where he will go into the auction business. It takes gall to go into that profession above all others.

Sarah E. Pepper has brought suit for divorce at Stockton from Morris Pepper. Matrimonial difficulties are too hot for even Peppers to get along amicably.

And now Germany is buying California brandy. Even the beer of the "Vaterland" has to take a back seat when the seductive juice of the California grape is once tasted.

A man up in Stockton is burdened with the woe of an Adam Coward. He says he always signs himself "Coward," because his full name makes him too conspicuous.

A Visalia man, just returned from Honolulu, gave an exhibition of a "hula-hula" dance at a whist party in Visalia. Up to a late hour last night the man had not been arrested.

A Los Angeles man is accused of stealing a peach orchard. It's a good thing for the government that the accused doesn't live in the neighborhood of the Calaveras grove of "big trees."

That terrible hoodoo, the mother-in-law, has appeared on life's stage in a leading role at Bakersfield. After a quarrel with her son-in-law she pulled a gun and shot him dead. Look out for the terrible creature, boys, and be good.

A Santa Barbara man has an idea that he can perfect a flying machine. He has been "thinking about it" for fourteen years. He will probably have to think fourteen more before he can hope to rival even the famous Darius Green.

A Watsonville man has amuck with a hatchet and smashed a woman over the head, instead of turning his attention to the saloons, a la Mrs. Nation. It took twelve miles to convince him that the city tank was where he belonged.

Mr. Meadows, a wandering gentleman of Riverside, was arrested for gazing upon the grape juice when it is in the crimson. Mr. Meadows had not the required long green to pass his fine, and so was turned out to grass in the city stable.

A Watsonville burglar has bumped up against the real thing. When one of the knights of the jimmy encountered a stout woman who had met her match. They smashed him over the head, scratched his face and held him until an officer arrived.

A Chicago preacher has wagged his tail for a most formidable foe, and far-reaching uprising in progress in that country, and it is not many weeks, or days, perhaps, before the censorship established by Castro in December last will be in the hands of the revolutionists.

The entire country lying west of the Rio Grande up to within 100 miles of the city of Caracas, is in the hands of the revolutionists, the leadership of Gen. Nicolas Bolivar, brother of Gen. Horatio Duquesne, each in charge of large and well-equipped armies. These are of no mean qualities. These are the revolutionary army are equipped with modern arms and ample supply of ammunition.

The contractor, William Kimmel, at once acquiesced to the demands of the building superintendent, and the objectionable scaffolding will come out, a brick wall taking its place. The property is owned by the A. M. Hough Endowment Fund Company.

STUCK BY GOSH.

Atmospheric Duller in Central Park Needed Just One Word, and a "Follow-laborer" Had It.

Yesterday the Central Park band had a vacation, and the orators, bursting with weeks of bottled-up eloquence, flew to daily with the atmosphere as in the glad old days. All of the speeches were profound and impressive; one ought never to be lost to the world. It was on "Socialism" by an old man with a hilly-goat beard and a disfavor for Socialism.

"This ain't no new thing," he shouted. "In Lacedaemonia, 3500 years ago, they divided up the country into squares."

His remark did not seem to create the enthusiasm it ought, so he built an addendum to it. "By thunder, they divided it into cubes." This made a profound impression.

In a little State like New Jersey, or Rhode Island—no, Rhode Island is too large, too—in a little State like New Jersey, they might cooperate. This made a profound impression.

Then he rolled up the whole doctrine of Socialism into a wad and spat it out. "There ain't no such thing as Democratic Socialism."

He had a word just at the end of his tongue, but he didn't say it. "Democrats," suggested one of the orators waiting for his turn. He had been in distress himself, and could lend a helping hand.

"That's it," said the old man gratefully. "There ain't no such thing as Democratic Democrats."

Many of these hats will be sold at a quarter of their regular retail price, but that we may not be misleading we average them at one-third. This is an elephantine sale in the Millinery corner. They are sample hats which have been displayed in the show cases of a big manufacturer and importer of New York city. They have not been handled or in any way damaged, but inasmuch as all sample lines are closed out at reduced prices the owner of these hats sold them to us at one-fourth and one-third and one-half their regular prices. All sorts of pretty, babyish styles in caps and hats, also shapes and styles suitable for small children, girls and misses. We cannot begin to describe them in detail. They have been divided into lots as described below. In addition to this sample line we offer three special values in misses' hats from our millinery department. They are not as much under price as are the sample hats, but they are good values nevertheless, and will be found superior in style and quality to most hats at the prices. AMERICAN LIFE A CENTURY AGO.

III.—BONNETS THAT OUR GRAND- MOTHERS WORE.

(By Alice Morse Earle, author of "Costume in Colonial Times," "From Life in Colonial Days," "China Collecting in America," etc.)

WE LEARN from the newspapers of 1801 what headgear was for sale—"straw, vellum, cane, willow and chip bonnets; maids' bag, stypp, Volney, Leghorn, Norway and Ostland straw bonnets." These straw bonnets were worn in winter as well as in summer, chiefly in the morning, and were tied on the head with a crimson silk handkerchief. The working in straw has ever been a work of women, as was also its invention. Mrs. Isabel Denton of Beeston, Leeds, Eng., invented straw hats in the time of Charles I, and maintained herself and a large family thereby.

In a word written by a Pennsylvania was stiffened with cane or whalebone, and could be pulled over the face. WIGS AND OTHER STYLES OF THE HAIR.

We have from letters and diaries of the day occasional glimpses of the fashions. Elias Southgate Browne, a very spirited young girl of 17, wrote at that time during her visits to Boston and New York frequent and interesting letters to her mother, and she opened the year 1800 thus:

"Now, mamma, what do you think I am going to ask for?—a wig. Eleanor has a new one just like my hair and only $5. I must either cut my hair or have one. I cannot dress it at all stylish. Mrs. Coffin bought Eleanor's and says she will get me one just like it; how much time it would save in one year we could save it in pins and paper, besides the trouble. At the assembly I was quite ashamed of my hair, for nobody has long hair any more. I will consent to my having one, so send me over a $5 bill by the post immediately after you receive this, for I am in hopes to have it for the next assembly. Do send me word immediately if you

WALKING AND EVENING DRESS, 1801.

Quaker in 1685 he urges that schools be provided where girls may be taught among other arts and mysteries "the making of straw works, such as hats and baskets." His useful hint was not carried out in any fulness till a century later, when many Americans awoke to the simultaneous consciousness that the costly and intricate straw bonnets made of the beautiful Italian braids could be successfully imitated at home. Handsome Leghorn hats cost $20 to $25. The first American inventor who was accorded a patent by the British government was a woman, Mrs. Sybil Masters of Philadelphia, and it was for a method of using straw and palm-leaf for making hats. The first you can let me have one." It is not to be wondered that wigs had to be worn, the hair had been so tortured, so scraped, stuffed, powdered, curled, and that few women had any hair left. Mrs. Tallien had thirty wigs of various colors and shapes. This fashion lasted but a few years, varying with cropped heads. While the fashions of the town followed the modes of Paris, in the country simple mode prevailed. An English traveler, Mr. Lambert, wrote thus in 1813 of the dress of New England women:

"Their light hair is tastefully turned up behind in the modern style and fastened with a comb. Their dress is neat, simple and genteel, usually consisting of a printed cotton jacket with patent issued to a woman by the government of the United States was also for an invention in straw bonnets. A third woman, a young girl named Betsy Metcalf of Providence, R. I., started the manufacture of straw headgear in this country.

THE TURBAN AND THE CALASH. Heavy beaver hats with rolling brims like men's hats were worn in full dress, and hats of velvet and satin; but the most characteristic headgear of the first quarter of the eighteenth century was the turban; it ousted changes of all sorts in other details of the costume. Nine-tenths of the women's portraits of that day, in youth and old age, showed a turban. Great scarfs of gauze and net adorned or formed these turbans, and strings of beads fastened them. The soft white turbans of gauze and tulle were very becoming to young women.

A very odd and characteristic headgear was the calash. It had been invented to wear with the pompadour and powdered heads of the eighteenth century, but remained in favor till 1800. It was shaped like a chaise top, long sleeves, a petticoat of the same, with a colored cotton apron or pincloth without sleeves tied tight and covering the lower part of the bosom."

Peter Parley gives an almost identical description of women's dress at that date.

GRACEFUL FASHIONS LATELY REVIVED.

There is no doubt that the fashion for women's dress of the year 1830 was charming, though overdone. The leg-of-mutton sleeve was graceful, but a little too large; the shoulders were prettily displayed above a line of fine lace, but the line was too horizontal. Evening dress it made the gown appear to be slipping off the shoulders. The nape of the neck was left wholly exposed, and the hair was drawn up to the top of the head and down in front in a strained mode was graceful, but a dress skirt was a little too short for they displayed the ankles; the lace collar, laces and capes were too straight. The bodice was too plain, and the straight waist lines were poor. Still, the whole dress was pretty, and the modes of the last few years—a revival which is, after all, rather surprising, for it extends even to the details—for instance, ermine and chinchilla, the fur of 1830, and ostrich feathers and alpacas, and point d'Alpe and similar laces. Our modern adoption of these modes was not in extreme. Our leg-of-mutton sleeves were not stiffened with whalebone nor stuffed with down pillows. Our skirts were longer, and we had beautiful and useful capes, instead of scarfs, and shawls, and we had not the same unsightly form of hairdressing.

One curious and yet graceful ornament of the fashion of 1830 to 1840 we did not revive. I refer to the ferretiere, or band around the head, from which depended a jewel or ornament over the middle of the forehead, as may be seen in scores of portraits. With the smoothly banded or ringleted hair it gives to every countenance a curiously submissive look, as if the jewel were hung on a slave—it is, I believe, an oriental fashion. This ferretiere was often composed of fine gold Venetian chain; sometimes also of black velvet ribbon, or of vines of artificial flowers, of silken cord, or strings of beads.

By 1837 the style of the gown was slightly changed. The bodice became smaller, and the waist smaller; the sleeves also were smaller, and a peplum was worn tight-drawn over the folded skirt. The skirts were large oval brooches were all the fashion. Muffs, bouquets, fans, parasols all were smaller, and the style of the dress was a costume prevailed—a forerunner of the meek and mild type of the modes which were established and beloved in the years 1840.

SOMETHING DROPPED.

Councilman Bowen's Scalp Laid Open While Inspecting Broadway Tunnel. Possibly Small Boy's Vengeance.

Councilman Bowen has felt something drop. While standing at the south portal of the Broadway tunnel yesterday afternoon, a stone fell, or was thrown, from the top of the parapet above, and struck the statesman from the fifth ward on the head, inflicting a painful, though not dangerous, wound.

Members, Bowen, Allen and McLain of the Board of Public Works, Councilman Walker and City Engineer Stafford were in the tunnel at the time, and were conversing at the south portal of the Broadway tunnel, when something fell from Bowen's hat, and the blood spurted from the wearer's scalp in a bright, scarlet stream. The blow, which was picked up and a three-cornered hole several inches in length, was found in the crown.

None of Mr. Bowen's companions saw the missile, and in the excitement nobody thought to look for it. It is supposed that a stone thrown by boys accidentally fell upon Mr. Bowen's head.

It is barely possible that some reprehensible believer in the rights of Young America was attempting to get even with the Fifth Ward's representative for his championship of the ordinance prohibiting ball playing in the streets, and the use of slings and air guns inside the city limits.

Bowen immediately went to his home. He will be able to be about today, but it is improbable that he will sail the bald-headed row at the theater for some time to come.

A BUSINESS EDUCATION OR A FINE CARPET.

YOU FIND ABOUT EVERYTHING IN THE LIST OF TIMES PRIZES.

The Chief Point is to Get What You Want Most—Some Competitors May Want Several Things—If They Manage Properly, They May Get One or Many.

Another lot of Times prizes in the great subscription competition comes in for special mention today.

Hawley, King & Co.

Of Nos. 164-168 North Los Angeles street sit one of the handsomest little buggies that ever ran on four wheels or five, for that matter. It is called the Sunset Runabout. One of these buggies is listed among our prizes.

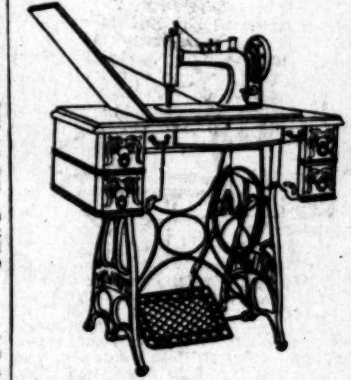

What you Have on the Floor

Is a controlling factor in the furnishings of a room. The room looks chilly and bare, or it is warm and homelike. The atmosphere you give it is largely dependent upon the carpet. A fine rug, worth $50, from the stock of the California Carpet Company is one of the attractive prizes in our General Class.

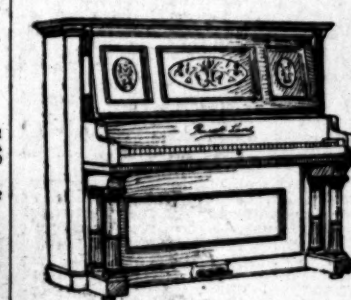

The Woodbury Business College

Is located on the upper floor of the Stowell Block on the east side of Spring street, between Second and Third streets. It is in the very heart of the city, most of the great office buildings being within a few blocks. The college occupies a floor space of 800 square feet, which gives most ample accommodations for students and teachers. Two scholarships in this institution, valued at $50 each, are offered as prizes by The Times in this distribution.

R. B. Moorehead.

Whose establishment is located at No. 349 South Spring street, handles several different manufacturers of sewing machines, and can give a purchaser his choice of the one that suits him best. The chances are, however, that the machine wanted is the New Home. This is good for all purposes that may be required in the sewing-room. One of these machines, worth $15, is a prize in our first class.

The H. C. Gilbert Piano Co.

Handles but one make of piano—that is the Russell-Lane, manufactured in Chicago. Of late years the palm for turning out fine instruments at medium cost has passed from the eastern to the western manufacturers. It is only another illustration of the course of the star of empire. The Times made no mistake in selecting a Russell-Lane piano to be awarded as one of its principal prizes.

To Make Her Happy

And make her at least get her one of those automobile coats with long skirts. It's the most fetching thing worn nowadays. At the Broadway Department Store you may see the automobile coat which The Times offers as a prize.

Notice to Competitors: Orders taken from old subscribers, by which the time of subscription is extended, must not be held back by canvassers. There is no advantage to be gained by holding them—as they cannot be transferred or traded—and it makes bother in The Times office that is wholly unnecessary.

To The Superior Person:

Of course you don't know. Of course you think all the talk in The Times recently has been to the Other Person. It hasn't interested you, of course—why should it? "It's nothing I could do," you have said, complacently, to yourself. "I couldn't get subscriptions! They've all been got, anyhow, by this time!"

No, you couldn't get them. That's right—though they haven't all been got—by about 90 per cent. But you couldn't get them. You couldn't get anything—except it might be a cold, or a prejudice, or some little thing of that kind. You certainly couldn't get your living, if the necessity for it arose. We all know that.

With many people—people who know your circumstances—the absolute indifference you show toward The Times subscription proposition is a source of wonder. But not to those who know you more intimately; who know how indolent and selfish you are—how much unemployed time you have on your hands, and your needs for ready cash. These do not wonder. They simply "size you up," and nudge each other.

If you were not a Superior Person it might be worth while to call your attention to the fact that there are 525 of these Times prizes, and less than 100 people working for them—less than 20 that have taken as many as 200 subscriptions—that is, subscriptions that amount, in months, to as many as 200.

The lowest competitor on the list as published today would, if this were the last day of the contest, get $700—two prizes of $350 each!

If you were not a Superior Person you would not scorn even so small a thing as $750. You would see the wisdom, doubtless, of applying at The Times office, without delay, for some order blanks—and going to work. There is plenty of good territory that hasn't been touched.
